Ruthless ambition gives way to murder in Macbeth, Shakespeare's always-relevant examination of the lacerating effect of the reckless desire for power. This poisonous cocktail of ambition, guilt, and paranoia, with subtle seasonings of the supernatural, explores fascinatingly conflicted characters with the velocity of a riveting thriller. Intense, disturbing, and, ultimately, profoundly moving,

Actors From The London Stage, with a cast drawn from the Royal Shakespeare Company and The Globe Theatre, bring this extraordinary tale to life like never before.

The Westerlies are "an arty quartet...mixing ideas from jazz, new classical, and Appalachian folk" according to The New York Times. Equally at home in concert halls and living rooms, The Westerlies navigate a wide array of music with the precision of a string quartet, the audacity of a rock band, and the charm of a family sing-along. "Skilled interpreters who are also adept improvisers" (NPR's Fresh Air), The Westerlies explore jazz, folk roots, and chamber music influences to create the rarest of hybrids: music that is both "folk-like and composerly, lovely and intellectually rigorous" (NPR Music). Their performance will sound amazing in all of the gorgeous and acoustically superb venues chosen for their visit.
